

Acknowledgement

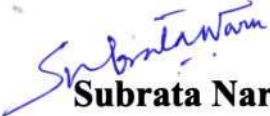

Research work is always a tedious and laborious job to continue. This is not possible without proper guidance. It is my pleasure to express my profound and sincere gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Sebak Kumar Jana, professor of Department of Economics with Rural Development, for his excellent guidance, valuable help, rational suggestions and continuous encouragement within this span of time.

I would like to express my sincere regards to all the respected teachers of Department of Economics with Rural Development who always helped and inspired me to do this research work.

I thank all the staff of the department of Economics with Rural Development and other office staff of the Vidyasagar University who always cooperate in the job of office formalities when needed.

I also thank Shouvik Das, Amit Acharya and Sajal Majumdar who helped me to prepare this thesis.

Last but not the least I thank all my family members and my friends who always encourage and support me to complete this research work.
